

RTD prepared to support Denver Broncos fans attending home games with service and connections

Customers encouraged to use bus and rail options to access Empower Field at Mile High Stadium

DENVER (Oct. 27, 2023) — The Regional Transportation District \(RTD\) is prepared to support the thousands of Denver Broncos fans who will attend home games this season at Empower Field at Mile High Stadium. The stadium's close proximity to a number of bus stops and rail stations makes RTD a safe and ideal way for football fans to travel to and from games.

Broncos fans are encouraged to use RTD's Next Ride application or the online trip planning tool and simply type "Broncos" in the destination field. During the entire football season, RTD's trip planner will show all transit options from a customer's current location to Empower Field. The "Broncos" navigation feature will list the departure and arrival times of all train lines and bus routes serving the stadium.

Rail Service

Before and after Broncos home games this season, RTD will also add rail cars to increase capacity on regularly scheduled service on the E and W lines, which both directly serve Empower Field at Mile High. Rail cars will also be added to the N Line between Eastlake•124th Station and Union Station.

The E and W light rail lines directly serve the stadium, which can be accessed at Decatur•Federal Station (W Line) or Empower Field at Mile High Station (E and W lines). Both stations are a less-than-10-minute walk to the stadium.

All rail service to Denver Union Station allows customers to make a simple transfer to the E and W lines. Customers using the D and H lines into downtown Denver can also reach Empower Field by exiting the train at Colfax at Auraria Station and walking to the stadium, which takes about 20 minutes.

Bus Service

Several local bus routes are available to accommodate customers attending football games. Bus routes operating in the vicinity of Empower Field at Mile High include Route 30 (South Federal
