

NEWS RELEASE

<Your organization name> joins RTD to provide information about the next phase of its Downtown Rail Reconstruction Project

The multi-phased project begins construction in the area of Kalamath Crossing

YOUR CITY (DATE 2025) — The Regional Transportation District \(RTD\) will undertake the next phase of its multi-phased project to reconstruct miles of light rail track in downtown Denver starting Sept. 2. The third phase of the approximately $152 million, full-depth reconstruction project will focus on segments of the light rail crossing located near the intersection of Kalamath Street and Colfax Avenue.

[Your organization name] is collaborating with RTD to keep the community informed ahead of construction. RTD encourages customers to sign up for . The program provides real-time text and email notifications about temporary detours and disruptions that may impact a specific bus route, rail line, stop or station. Customers are also encouraged to check RTD's website or use the NextRide web app to plan trips, view Service Alerts, and see bus and train locations in real time.

For additional route and schedule information, RTD's Customer Care agents are available 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays by calling 303.299.6000. [Insert any resources your company has to offer.]

Beginning Sunday, Aug.31 when the latest service changes take effect, all D Line trains will be rerouted to Denver Union Station. The H Line will be shortened to Southmoor Station, and customers continuing downtown will need to connect to the E Line. The E and H lines will maintain 15-minute frequencies to support customer transfers. The L Line will be temporarily suspended during the project, and bus Route 43 will provide customers with continued connections along the corridor. Subsequent phases of the project will begin in 2026, and work on each phase may simultaneously occur. The agency's project team, comprising staff and consultants, is in the process of developing comprehensive reconstruction plans for the latter phases, which include:

- Phase Three, Part Two: Colfax Avenue Alignment Reconstruction
- Phase Four: Welton Street Corridor

RTD's Downtown Rail Reconstruction page is available at rtd-denver.com/railproject and features photos, illustrations, maps, detour information and project timelines. The agency will continually update the project page during all phases of work.